The location of the dam is a thing of the past. It is located and work on it is progressing rapidly.

The legislature pays its members $4,128 for mileage to and from the capital, and each and every individual travels on a pass.

Snow has almost disappeared on the Montana ranges and it is thought the mortality to cattle for the winter will not be over two per cent.

The Brainerd street railway will be in full operation by the first of July next, and by October the gas and electric light plant will be put in.

The St. Paul winter carnival is now fairly under way. It is a big show and people from all parts of the globe will come to see it. St. Paul reaps a harvest thereby.

The choice of C. K. Davis as United States Senator gives general satisfaction throughout the state. No better selection could have been made.

We heard something about an ordinance being passed in regard to cleaning snow from sidewalks. Why don't the mayor and his efficient police force enforce it?

The people of St. Cloud are going to stop the Sunday traffic in stimulants. The liquor sellers are to be indicted in a body for violation of the Sunday law.

A Duluth fireman to escape a fine for not getting out to a fire recently, made excuse that he was taking a bath at the time the alarm was given. He was excused for neglecting to appear for duty, but a fine of $5 was imposed upon him for taking a bath.

The state homeopathic institute is circulating a petition asking the legislature to place the third insane hospital under the care of homeopaths. They claim that one-third of the practitioners in the state are homeopaths, and their treatment is the most successful.

St. Paul is certainly up to the times, the latest freak being that of wealthy people obliging their coachman to shave smoothly. The coachman do not like the idea and come out in print claiming there is only one real coachman in the city, and that the balance do duty as woodsmen, gardeners, etc. This "one coachman" is in the employ of T. F. Oakes of the N. P. road.

Joseph Porter of Moose Lake was walking on the Northern Pacific railroad track five miles east of McGregor Saturday was struck by an east bound snow plow and thrown fifteen feet from the track. He was dead and did not hear the train. He was picked up later by section men in a nearly unconscious condition and taken to Aitkin for treatment. He was sixty-five years old.

The dam is now fairly underway despite all efforts of the kickers. The threat by letter to "put a bullet through Mr. Kindred" if he built the dam at the brick yard did not stop the pile driver for a moment and the work goes merrily on. The man who wrote that letter should be found out and given a chance to leave town or be punished for his murderous threat. Talk about the Chicago anarchists, we should say our city comes very near having as dangerous characters located right in her midst.

The time for the city election draws near, but no mention as to who the candidates will probably be has yet been made. We have heard it said that under no consideration would Mayor Small be a candidate for re-election, although he has made a very good officer and neither side has found occasion to grumble very loud at any of his official actions. The municipal judgeship is an office that will receive the attention of the voters, and already Judge Fleming's friends say they are going to elect him to the place whether he will accept it or not. The city treasurer's office will not be a very fat plum as the council has concluded to fix the salary of that office at $300 per annum. In the first ward the election of one alderman in place of F. G. Sundberg, who has been filling the unexpired term of J. J. Howe on account of removal from the ward, will be necessary. Jas. S. Gardner holding over. In the second ward G. A. Keene's time expires and A. E. Taylor holds over. Wm. Percy is the outgoing alderman from the third ward, Geo. Forsyth being the long term man this election. In the fourth ward Felix Graham will serve another year while D. Doran is the Alderman whose time expires. Dr. Hemstead has served the fifth ward in the capacity of alderman for the past two years, but as that ward will be swallowed up by the first and second wards in the new revision of the city charter there will be no fifth ward alderman hereafter.

Another "to be built immediately" road was organized at St. Paul last night. Dr. J. R. Hovess represents Duluth which is saying a good deal for the soundness of the project.—Duluth News.

It is claimed that there are 22,000 Knights of Labor in this state.

No Can't Prove It.

The "boys" received some attention from the Tribune and his hired man last week, and to a man up a tree, it would seem as though something had broke loose which did not exactly suit the fastidious tastes of these self-conceited jays, and of course the torrefaction act is a consequence. The loving brothers got wrath because we showed up so conclusively that they copied and editorial from Harrower's pamphlet, and after admitting they did so, they try to detract attention from their own theft by an abusive dissertation, in which they charge us with having stolen the article that was published in this paper from the pen of Willard Glazier, and also the editorial comments made on it, from the Philadelphia Press; and Halstead claims he saw both in that paper. We have the most profound respect for a person who shows the amount of gall that this eastern journalist exhibits, and to prove that his assertions in the last issue of his blackguarding sheet were simply fancies of a diseased mind, and which could originate only in places fitted for their reception, we have this day placed in the hands of W. A. Fleming, superintendent of schools, the sum of $100, which we will wager against $5 with this lying plagiarist that he cannot produce the editorial that appeared in the DISPATCH, from the Philadelphia Press or any other paper. Mind you, Halstead claims he saw it there; if he cannot or does not produce it, he stands convicted of intended falsifying; but it will be no surprise to the citizens of Brainerd, for he was well known ere he had been in the city three months. In regard to the article itself we will say that we have the manuscript from which it was produced in our possession with Mr. Glazier's official signature attached. Now let this blating blowhard put up or shut up; he has it in his power to prove his assertions if true, for it will be an easy matter to procure a copy of the paper in which he claims to have seen the editorial.

We have proven that he stole his article almost bodily from the pamphlet, and he stands meekly by and acknowledges the corn "if obtaining names and dates from the same" constituted the offense. Had he simply used names and dates or other information on which to base his editorial, he would not have heard one word of protest from us, but the fact is he did more, he stole Harrower's language of which the following will serve as an illustration: In his editorial of Jan. 1st he says:

"If Capt. Glazier had sent three dollars to the commissioner of the general land office he would have received a fac-simile tracing of a map of the township, which was certified as correct Feb. 3, 1876; and thus he might have saved $9,997 of the $10,000 which his friends say he expended on this expedition."

On page 17 of Harrower's pamphlet will be found the following: "If Capt. Glazier had sent three dollars to the commissioner of the general land office he would have received a fac-simile tracing of this map, certified to be correct; and thus he might have discovered 'Lake Glazier' and saved $9,997 of the $10,000 which his friends say he expended on this expedition."

By the above it will readily be seen that the brainy Tribune ymologist not only got "names and dates," as he admits, from Harrower's pamphlet, but stole whole paragraphs, changing only here and there a word to give the article a local appearance. Over two-thirds of the balance of his article was stolen in like manner as the above, and we would publish the thing entire did not lack of space forbid. However, we think the above sufficient to convict in the minds of all intelligent persons.

It would not be impossible to prove further that the brilliant editorials which appear in this eminently asthetic and much yearned for sheet are copied bodily from eastern papers which that office takes for this expressed purpose, only a word now and then being supplied or omitted to give them an original appearance. This fact was shown conclusively by the Journal some time ago, under the head of "Colossal Editorial Accumen," in which it was clearly proven that Halstead is a confirmed literary thief, and the habit is growing on him.

Gen. Hazen, chief officer of the United States signal service is dead. The people will now have a chance to grumble at a new wealthier clerk.

New Road.

The Stephen, Minn., Leader says: The opinion is gaining ground that the Northern Pacific is behind the scheme to build a road from Bismarck to Duluth, by way of Grafton and Lake of the Woods. Some claim the road will cross the Manitoba road at Stephen, and others again that it will cross at Argyle. Only one thing is certain so far, viz: That a large party of surveyors are at work locating a road east and west.

Broke His Arm.

The people who were to Minneapolis to see the Sullivan-Cardiff exhibition were disgusted. Sullivan by a misdirected blow broke one of the bones in his right forearm in the first round, but did not let the fact be known until the sixth round was finished and the fight was declared a draw. Speaking of the affair the Minneapolis Tribune says:

The audience numbered at least 7,000 and filled the Washington rink from end to end. The receipts from the gallery were not less than $3,000 and from the lower floor $7,500. The principals divided $10,000 between them at least giving each $5,000. Supposing Cardiff and Sullivan to have arrived at the rink at 7 o'clock and to have left at 12. They made $1,000 an hour, $16 2/3 a minute, and 27 cents for every tick of the watch while they were in the building. The value of the time they fought, including rests, was about $208 a minute.

Red-Headed People.

Charlie Kindred, of Brainerd, is keeping up his record for scheming. He induced the county commissioners of Crow Wing county to consent to the location of a dam about a mile and a half above Brainerd, and to issue $50,000 bond for it, although the city council of Brainerd was opposed to it. He then prevailed upon representative Lum to introduce a bill legalizing the action of the county commissioners. It went through both houses, and Kindred drove around in a hack and got Gov. McGill to sign it before anybody tumbled. Now Messrs. Howe, Paine and Taylor are down here red-headed, and say that Kindred has got a monopoly on God's water.—Pioneer Press.

The red-headed part of the article is undoubtedly true, but the county commissioners never consented to any location and the city council had nothing to do with the county commissioners issuing bonds, and last Mr. Lum did not introduce the bill to legalize the action of the county commissioners as Mr. Flynn had the honor. The Press man must have been "stuffed" by some interested party.

Alex! Too Late!

C. F. Kindred is about as clever a politician as I have met for a long time, and a good illustration of his shrewdness cropped out at the capital yesterday. Mr. Kindred had a bill introduced into the house and senate Friday for a change in the location of a dam in the river at Brainerd. It was rushed through with lightning like rapidity in both branches. Friday evening Mr. Kindred got the speaker and clerk of the senate to fix the bill up for the governor's signature, and aroused the latter from his bed to sign it. Yesterday a delegation came from Brainerd to oppose the bill, but found it had already been made a law.—Minneapolis.

Not Independent.

A farmer writes the most independent man on earth, and relates as follows: "We have often noticed that a certain class of newspaper men assert that the farmer is the most independent man on earth, and that he has nothing to do but enjoy life. That when winter comes and blizzards are on the wing, he toasts his feet in the oven and reads the local paper, and that the only thing that disturbs him is a call three times a day to banquet on mince pies and other luxuries. It is a large mistake. The industrious farmer begins work in the morning long before the sun thinks of getting up. With his principle shrouded in gloom he proceeds to build a fire and soften his boots with a hammer. He then takes a lantern and shovels his way to the barn and feeds the hogs. It is then time to feed a newly arrived calf, which seems to delight in hunting for milk all over the filler on the stall, until he is fed. He then milks the cows, cleans out the stables, gathers up the frozen chickens, chases a stray pig worth twenty-five cents for five miles, doctors a sick horse, freezes his fingers, gets kicked by a one-eyed mule, and when gloaming comes and quietness broods over the earth, he has a single half hour to meditate and wonder how he will make the next payment on that machine note."

Mo is Still Dead.

The Tower Press says there is a great deal of pleasure in hunting moose, but the hilarity is lost to a certain extent when the moose concludes to do the hunting. There was a case last week that proves this fact. Two Indians started out moose hunting somewhere in the vicinity of Net Lake. They succeeded in finding a moose and wounding him. The moose turned on the two men and in a very few minutes had killed one and treed the other. A moose has almost as much patience as an Indian, but not quite. The moose waited for the Indian to wait for the moose to go away. The Indian was in the end, but both feet and hands were badly frozen before the moose gave up waiting for him. The Indian who was in the tree is nearly well now, but the Indian who was killed is still dead.

Testimony from the Seashore.

I have been suffering with rheumatism for about twenty-five years. I am now forty-two years old. My pains were so great that I have been confined to my bed for eight to ten months at a time, and two years ago I was in bed about nineteen months perfectly helpless, being afflicted all other. At that time, having tried every known remedy before, I commenced the use of Swift's Specific. I used about two dozen bottles. I have never had anything to do since, and I am now as well as I was when I commenced. I can walk and ride as well as when a boy. My business is such as to keep me on my feet about fourteen hours during the day, but I go through without any inconvenience. I can cheerfully recommend S. S. to those who suffer with rheumatism.

The municipal judgeship is an office that will receive the attention of the voters, and already Judge Fleming's friends say they are going to elect him to the place whether he will accept it or not. The city treasurer's office will not be a very fat place as the council has concluded to fix the salary of that office at $300 per annum. In the first ward the election of one alderman in place of F. G. Sundberg, who has been filling the unexpired term of J. J. Howe on account of removal from the ward, will be necessary, Jas. S. Gardner holding over. In the second ward G. A. Keene's time expires and A. E. Taylor holds over. Wm. Percy is the outgoing alderman from the third ward, Geo. Forsyth being the long term man this election. In the fourth ward Felix Graham will serve another year while D. Doran is the Alderman whose time expires. Dr. Hemstead has served the fifth ward in the capacity of alderman for the past two years, but as that ward will be swallowed up by the first and second wards in the new revision of the city charter there will be no fifth ward alderman hereafter.

It is claimed that there are 22,000 Knights of Labor in this state.

No Can't Prove It.

The "boys" received some attention from the Tribune and his hired man last week, and to a man up a tree, it would seem as though something had broke loose which did not exactly suit the fastidious tastes of these self-conceited jays, and of course the torrefaction act is a consequence. The loving brothers got wrath because we showed up so conclusively that they copied and editorial from Harrower's pamphlet, and after admitting they did so, they try to detract attention from their own theft by an abusive dissertation, in which they charge us with having stolen the article that was published in this paper from the pen of Willard Glazier, and also the editorial comments made on it, from the Philadelphia Press; and Halstead claims he saw both in that paper. We have the most profound respect for a person who shows the amount of gall that this eastern journalist exhibits, and to prove that his assertions in the last issue of his blackguarding sheet were simply fancies of a diseased mind, and which could originate only in places fitted for their reception, we have this day placed in the hands of W. A. Fleming, superintendent of schools, the sum of $100, which we will wager against $5 with this lying plagiarist that he cannot produce the editorial that appeared in the DISPATCH, from the Philadelphia Press or any other paper. Mind you, Halstead claims he saw it there; if he cannot or does not produce it, he stands convicted of intended falsifying; but it will be no surprise to the citizens of Brainerd, for he was well known ere he had been in the city three months. In regard to the article itself we will say that we have the manuscript from which it was produced in our possession with Mr. Glazier's official signature attached. Now let this blating blowhard put up or shut up; he has it in his power to prove his assertions if true, for it will be an easy matter to procure a copy of the paper in which he claims to have seen the editorial.

We have proven that he stole his article almost bodily from the pamphlet, and he stands meekly by and acknowledges the corn "if obtaining names and dates from the same" constituted the offense. Had he simply used names and dates or other information on which to base his editorial, he would not have heard one word of protest from us, but the fact is he did more, he stole Harrower's language of which the following will serve as an illustration: In his editorial of Jan. 1st he says:

"If Capt. Glazier had sent three dollars to the commissioner of the general land office he would have received a fac simile tracing of a map of the township, which was certified as correct Feb. 3, 1876; and thus he might have saved $9,997 of the $10,000 which his friends say he expended on this expedition."

On page 17 of Harrower's pamphlet will be found the following: "If Capt. Glazier had sent three dollars to the commissioner of the general land office he would have received a fac simile tracing of this map, certified to be correct; and thus he might have discovered 'Lake Glazier' and saved $9,997 of the $10,000 which his friends say he expended on this expedition."

By the above it will readily be seen that the brainy Tribune ymologist not only got "names and dates," as he admits, from Harrower's pamphlet, but stole whole paragraphs, changing only here and there a word to give the article a local appearance. Over two-thirds of the balance of his article was stolen in like manner as the above, and we would publish the thing entire did not lack of space forbid. However, we think the above sufficient to convict in the minds of all intelligent persons.

It would not be impossible to prove further that the brilliant editorials which appear in this eminently asthetic and much yearned for sheet are copied bodily from eastern papers which that office takes for this expressed purpose, only a word now and then being supplied or omitted to give them an original appearance. This fact was shown conclusively by the Journal some time ago, under the head of "Colossal Editorial Accumen," in which it was clearly proven that Halstead is a confirmed literary thief, and the habit is growing on him.

Gen. Hazen, chief officer of the United States signal service is dead. The people will now have a chance to grumble at a new weather clerk.

New Road.

The Stephen, Minn., Leader says: The opinion is gaining ground that the Northern Pacific is behind the scheme to build a road from Bismarck to Duluth, by way of Grafton and Lake of the Woods. Some claim the road will cross the Manitoba road at Stephenson, and others again that it will cross at Argyle. Only one thing is certain so far, viz: That a large party of surveyors are at work locating a road east and west.

Broke His Arm.

The people who went to Minneapolis to see the Sullivan-Cardiff exhibition were disgusted. Sullivan by a misdirected blow broke one of the bones in his right forearm in the first round, but did not let the fact be known until the sixth round was finished and the fight was declared a draw. Speaking of the affair the Minneapolis Tribune says:

The audience numbered at least 7,000 and filled the Washington rink from end to end. The receipts from the gallery were not less than $3,000 and from the lower floor $7,500. The principals divided $10,000 between them at least giving each $5,000. Supposing Cardiff and Sullivan to have arrived at the rink at 7 o'clock and to have left at 12. They made $1,000 an hour, $16 2/3 a minute, and 27 cents for every tick of the watch while they were in the building. The value of the time they fought, including rests, was about $205 a minute.

Not Independent.

A farmer writes that he objects to being called the most independent man on earth, and relates as follows:

"We have often noticed that a certain class of newspaper men assert that the farmer is the most independent man on earth, and that he has nothing to do but enjoy life. What when winter blizzards are on the wing, he toasts his feet in the oven and reads the local paper, and that the only thing that disturbs him is a call three times a day to banquet on mince pies and other luxuries. It is a laudable mistake. The industrious farmer begins work in the morning long before the sun thinks of getting up. With his soul shrouded in gloom he proceeds to build a fire and soften his boots with a hammer. He then takes a lantern and shovels his way to the barn and feeds the hogs. It is then time to feed a newly arrived calf, which seems to delight in hunting a pair of milk all over the tiller of the soil, until he only needs to be stamped to pass for a pig worth twenty-five cents for four miles, doctors a sick horse, freezes his fingers, gets kicked by a one-eyed mule, and when gloaming comes and quietness troods over the earth, he has a single half hour to meditate and wonder how in hell he will make the next payment on that machine note."

A Steam Horse.

A new thing in the line of hauling logs by steam is being successfully experimented with at Swart's camp on the Michigamme, near Republic. It consists of a traction engine, a Chicago man named Grover. The engine rests on four sleigh runners, each fourteen inches wide, and is calculated to draw on an ordinary logging road, from eight to twelve sleds, each loaded with from 2,000 to 3,000 feet of logs. The speed with this load is about four miles an hour. Grover expects to run night and day, and on a road six miles long will make ten trips in twenty-four hours. "It will save horse-flesh," says Mr. Wilson, and make logging on six mile hauls as cheap as it is on a two to three mile haul with horses. —Fx.

Red-Headed People.

Charlie Kindred, of Brainerd, is keeping up his record for scheming. He induced the county commissioners of Crow Wing county to consent to the location of a dam about a mile and a half above Brainerd, and to issue $50,000 bond for it, although the city council of Brainerd was opposed to it. He then prevailed upon representative Lum to introduce a bill legalizing the action of the county commissioners. It went through both houses, and Kindred drove around in a hack and got Gov. McGill to sign it before anybody tumbled. Now Messrs. Howe, Paine and Taylor are down here red-headed, and say that Kindred has got a monopoly on God's wrath. —Pioneer Press.

The red-headed part of a theatre is undoubtedly true, but the county commissioners never consented to any location and the city council had nothing to do with the county commissioners issuing bonds, and last Mr. Lum did not introduce the bill to legalize the action of the county commissioners as Mr. Flynn had the honor. The Press man must have been "stuffed" by some interested party.

Alex Crawford, of Duluth, has fallen heir to $900,000 by the death of a cousin in Australia.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Bosche's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung Troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when these diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price 75 cents, large bottles.

He Is Still Dead.

The Tower Press says there is a great deal of pleasure in hunting moose, but the hilarity is lost to a certain extent when the moose concludes to do the hunting. There was a case last week that proves this fact. Two Indians started out moose hunting somewhere in the vicinity of Net Lake. They succeeded in finding a moose and wounding him. The moose turned on the two men and in a very few minutes had killed one and treed the other. A moose has almost as much patience as an Indian, but not quite. The moose waited for the Indian to come down and the Indian waited for the moose to go away. The Indian won in the end, but both feet and hands were badly frozen before the moose gave up waiting for him. The Indian who was in the tree is nearly well now, but the Indian who was killed is still dead.

Testimony from the Seashore.

I have been suffering with rheumatism for about twenty-five years. I am now forty-two years old. My pains were so great that I have been confined to my bed from eight to ten months at a time, and two years ago I was in bed about nineteen months perfectly helpless, being afflicted all other. At that time, having tried every known remedy failed, I commenced the use of Swift's Specific. I used about two dozen bottles. I have never had anything to act so promptly and efficiently in my life. My health and vigor were restored; I can walk and ride as well as when a boy. My business is such as to keep me on my feet about fourteen hours during the day, but I go through without any inconvenience. I can cheerfully recommend S. S. S. to those who suffer with rheumatism.

The new catholic church project at Little Falls has over three thousand dollars pledged, and will, as soon as spring opens, begin the erection of a church to cost five or six thousand dollars.

The Little Falls Democrat casually remarks that one of the lady school teachers in the public school at that place is trying to work the "live racket" on her pupils. We would consider this to be a successful method to work male adults.

The people of the Third ward will meet in mass convention Saturday evening at the hose house and will pass resolutions denouncing the scheme of trying to stop the construction of the dam. We have casually heard it remarked that it will be a d—d interesting meeting, especially to the opposition.

Dr. W. G. W. Tupper, of Little Falls, was called to Brainerd last Monday to assist at the amputation of the feet of a section hand who was frozen a week or two previous. The operation was performed at the N. P. Sanitarium, and the patient is now on the road to recovery. The man who was with the patient, was free to death.

E. H. Jenne, of Fargo, passed through Brainerd, on Tuesday with two elk that were to have been driven as a team during the carnival at St. Paul. When making a transfer to another car while waiting here, one of the elk got her foot caught between the car and the platform and broke her leg and she had to be killed when they arrived in St. Paul. The span of elk were valued at $1,000 and were the property of G. S. Barnes.

Prof. D. J. Cozart, principal of the Lake View Academy at Sauk Centre, informs us that he is pleased in the highest degree with the young gentlemen who are attending his academy from Brainerd, and there are a good many. He considers that their manners and general make up reflects much credit on their homes. Mr. Arthur Wilson has been elected Secretary of the Academy literary society. Mr. Frank Howe is distinguishing himself in the commercial department. There are eighty-two scholars enrolled.

The Brainerd toboggan club went to Fargo last Saturday and had an invitation from the St. Paul Snow Shoe club of St. Paul. The club were to have stopped off at Brainerd but for some reason the programme was changed. The band was out in winter costume on the arrival of the train and with fifty of our boys in gay toboggan dress it made a very pretty sight. The St. Paul boys "bounced" several of the Brainerd lads, and after a dinner at the Villard the entire party departed for Fargo. At Verdade they caught Billy, "Totton's Dude," and the last seen of him he was going heavenward and had not come down yet when the boys returned Monday morning. At Fargo the crowd enjoyed themselves the following day by attending church and devoting themselves to religious observance of the day, but were badly broken up by the long ride (?) when they arrived home Monday, a. m., at 6 o'clock.

The Brainerd Sporting Club held a meeting Monday evening in the Villard parlors for the purpose of drafting a bill to be presented to the legislature in regard to the game laws and the wholesale slaughter of deer in this section. The legislature will be asked to grant the appointing of a game marshal for each county, and to make it unlawful to kill deer at other times than in the month of November of each year. Also to make it unlawful for the railroad to carry venison in the state. If this bill can be passed it will stop the killing of so many deer in this section as the hunters will have no means to ship their venison and thus it will be unprofitable. Unless some measure of this kind is taken the deer of this state will soon be killed off and they will be as scarce as the buffaloes and other game that used to inhabit the Northwest.

Come Home to Roost.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A big fight has been started on Fred Publer, who was confirmed postmaster at Ada, Norman county, on the 1st inst. seems the confirmation was recalled upon a request by telegraph from the citizens of Ada. Yesterday Senator McMahon received a monstrous petition asking for Publer's rejection. Senator Sabie, it is understood, will join Senator McMahon in recommending Publer's rejection. The objection to him is that he had a malodorous name in connection with several newspapers of his own state, and his debts seem to be more than his creditors can bear and at the same time see him enjoy a nice office.

This is really a bad, after being a republican for many years and getting no recognition to have his "nice fat office" taken from him after having joined the democrats and been in the ranks only a few short months.

They Still Damn It.

During the past week various rumors have been afloat in regard to the much talked of dam. In fact the subject has almost degenerated to a chestnut. Nevertheless the work is progressing rapidly, another pile driver has been put at work and about 90 piles have been driven. People talk that the work will be stopped in a few days but the indications are entirely in the other direction. The theory is advanced, by the few who would rather deprive the people of the city of Brainerd of the dam entirely, than to see it go in at the brick yard, that this work is only a sham in order to sell off real estate in that vicinity and then suspend operations, and in the meantime that the Water Power and Boom company will succeed in expending the $50,000 of county money and we will be no better off. This is all bosh, at least we believe it is, for in the same breath they say that Kindred will never get a cent of the county money. If this is a fact why endeavor to throw obstructions in the way of the work? If the gentlemen who are straining every muscle to stop the building of the dam succeed in so doing, which is not at all probable, and the dam is not constructed, before the year is out there will be such an outburst of indignation among our citizens that these gentlemen will be glad to escape to some secluded retreat, no matter how sincere they may be in the matter at present.

We were at the site this morning and found the work progressing much more rapidly than we supposed, and as we left the 95th pile was being driven, the steam pile driver being at work on the east side of the river, and the horse power on the west side. Instead of being mere fence posts as has been said by some of the kickers, the piles are all of sufficient size to insure a good solid structure, and are driven about eighteen feet into the ground, the water being but three feet and a half deep at that point. There are some twenty teams engaged in hauling rock and timber to the place, and about 30 men are at present engaged in driving and getting the piles in shape. If there is a man in the city that can go there and view the work and the arrangements that are being made, and then say that they actually think the whole proceedings is a fraud and only for effect, we would like to see him.

Another new feature is the erection of a saw mill which has just been begun. This mill will have a capacity of 75,000 feet daily and will be used to saw the timber for the dam, after which it will be converted into a saw mill for general use. The foundation for the same was being commenced while we were there, and it will be rushed to completion.

Mr. Kindred informs us that the obstructions placed in the way of getting the money that was voted for the construction by the people, will not stop the work, and that he will go ahead and fill his contract with the county and that the money part will come all right; that the Boom Company is entirely competent to manage and sustain their rights in the matter. The people who expect to stay in Brainerd and depend on it for their livelihood are all anxious to see the work go ahead at this point because it is impossible to build it anywhere else, while the people who want to sell out and realize their property are on the opposition.

Masters the Chippewa Tongue.

Gilbert G. Hartley, the well known Duluth boomer, is a master of the Chippewa Indian tongue, and in pioneer days in Brainerd it was no uncommon sight to see and hear him and his brother Frank conversing with large groups of the aborigines. G. G. Hartley has made his mark in the world by hard and persistent work, but in the successful business man of to-day the same genial companionable and desirable traits of character are just as apparent as they were in the reliable, good natured and every reliable "Gip" Hartley of fifteen years ago.—Duluth News.

Want's to Realize.

The following letter was received at the Dispatch office this morning: Mr. EDITOR—I want you ask you a question. I own to Lots near the park which I want to sell so that I can go away from here. If the dam is built to old Miss Swarts brick yard I can't never do it; neither can Billy Paign, nor Mr. Haller, nor mister Sauer, or mister McGil, nor mister which I want to. Now I want to know what rate that skunk of a kindred has to put that dam up there so we can't sell out. Me and my wife is anxious to go away and I think something could be done to help up. So does all of us. Can't you get mister McGil to come up here and stop Kindred from building the dam up the river. Yours truly, J. B.

Curious Things in Life.

A baby in Mauch Chunk, Pa., Has been named Cleveland Blaine, Cincinnati consumes more peanuts than any other city in the United States.

A "newsboy" in Nashville, Tenn., is 80 years old. It will soon be time for him to retire.

A farmer who has lived in Adams county for forty years has never owned a wagon. He does all his hauling on a sled, winter and summer.

Hugh McCaslin, a ninety-two year old, who lives near Donaldson, Montgomery county, Ill., has the whooping cough for the second time in his life. He had his first attack ninety one years ago.

A farmer near Jamestown, D. T. lost a turkey in a blizzard. Twenty-four days later he found the bird snugly buried in a snowdrift, where it had lived without food ever since the storm.

Incredible as it may seem, there are in New York city 8,600 families the care of charity, or who have some connection with organized charities or criminal authorities. With an average of four persons to a family this makes 34,400 persons.

A young man of Emmons county D. T., called on a young woman of his acquaintance, and a blizzard compelled him to stay the days. The young woman's father brought a preacher to the house and his presence resulted in a wedding on the third day.

We still continue to sell flour at $2.25.

They Should Suffer.

The Fergus Journal says that the officials in St. Paul have been notified that the Finns in the northern part of the state are snaring deer in large quantities notwithstanding the fact that the season is over and it is against the law to do it. It is also reported that large quantities are being shipped out of the state contrary to law. A detective has been or will be sent to look up and arrest the offenders to prevent it being done any longer. A correspondent writes that the deer are caught and hang by the neck until they die from strangulation or freeze to death, and that their bleating, which can be heard a very long ways, is heart-rending. It is hoped that the detective will catch the offenders.
